We are not a booking platform. We are the authority.

African Safari Group exists to make the most consequential journey our clients will ever book feel inevitable, considered, and flawlessly executed — and every page they read should carry that same quiet confidence. The Light Edition carries the same essence on a brighter, airier ground.

01

Authority

Deep, reserve-level expertise. We know which lodge, which season, which guide — and say so plainly.

02

Craft

Every detail considered. Nothing default, nothing templated, nothing left to a stock theme.

03

Restraint

Confidence does not shout. Space, silence and precision do more than ornament ever could.

04

Trust

Consultation-led, never transactional. The brand should feel like a person, not a funnel.

The Mark

Our crest — a single, abstracted lion mane rendered as radiating lines — is fixed. It is never redrawn, recoloured outside this system, or replaced. Two lockups cover every use case.

STACKED

Square formats, social avatars, covers

HORIZONTAL

Website headers, email headers, wide formats — the preferred lockup for site navigation

Clear Space & Minimum Size

Maintain clear space equal to the height of the lion mark (x) on every side, for both lockups. No text or competing graphic may enter this zone.

HORIZONTAL — CLEAR SPACE

Minimum Size

32px digital
15mm print

20px digital
10mm print (icon alone)

Always export at 2x for digital and vector (SVG/EPS) for print.

Approved Variations

Never

- Recolour the mark outside Ink, Ivory, Brass, Heritage Sand or White
- Place it on a busy photograph without adequate contrast behind it
- Stretch, skew, rotate, or add shadows / bevels / outlines
- Reproduce the stacked lockup below 32px — use the icon alone

Icon-Only Mark

Used alone — favicon, app icon, social avatar — where the brand is already established by context.

One Mark, Many Domains

Reserve sites, PPC properties and direct-booking platforms keep the same icon, the same serif setting and the same rule-line treatment as the master lockup. Only the name beneath the icon changes, to match the domain — this is the only approved way to create a new lockup.

DIRECT BOOKING

Every sub-brand carries a small “Part of African Safari Group” endorsement line in its footer.

Same System, Inverted Ground

Identical palette to the Ink Edition — only which tone leads changes. Here, Warm Ivory and White carry the page; Ink and Charcoal step back into text and selective dark accents; Brass remains the one constant signal colour across both editions.

#F6F1EA

Warm Ivory
Dominant ground — heroes, cards, page background.

#B9AFA2

Bone
Borders, dividers, secondary surfaces.

#A8794B

Safari Brass
Constant accent — CTAs, links, used sparingly.

#C39F77

Heritage Sand
Legacy tone — tints & secondary accents only.

#4A443C

Soft Charcoal
Body copy — easier long-form reading.

#2B2622

Charcoal
Dark UI elements, selective dark sections.

#171411

ASG Ink
Headlines & deliberate dark accents only.

The Ratio, Flipped

Where the Ink Edition leads with 60% dark, the Light Edition leads with 60% Ivory/White. Brass holds its 10% signal role in both — the one constant across editions.

Ivory / White — 60%

Dominant ground: backgrounds, cards, hero sections, body.

Ink / Charcoal — 30%

Headlines, navigation text, selective dark panels (footer).

Brass — 10%

Signal only: primary CTA, key numerals, active states, dividers.

In Practice

Correct — bright ground, one brass call-to-action.

Incorrect for this edition — ink as a dominant ground belongs to the Ink Edition.

Lora & Poppins

Identical type system across both editions. Lora is a refined serif that echoes the warmth of the wordmark for headlines; Poppins is a clean geometric sans for body copy, navigation and UI.

Aa

Lora — Display & Headlines
H1/H2, pull quotes, lodge & destination names

Aa

Poppins — Body & UI
Body copy, navigation, buttons, forms, captions

H1

Your Africa, Considered.

How the Hierarchy Behaves

- Headlines stay short.

Six to nine words. If it needs more, it's body copy, not a headline.

- Never set Poppins in all-caps below 9pt.

Tracked caps work for eyebrows and labels — not body text.

- One serif moment per screen.

A single Lora headline or pull quote per view keeps it editorial.

- Line length: 60–75 characters.

Body copy never spans the full width of a layout.

- Numerals are always Poppins.

Prices, dates and stats stay Poppins-Medium, even inside serif paragraphs.

Authoritative, Warm, Never Salesy.

We write like the specialist a client is grateful to have found — confident because we know the reserves personally, warm because this is the trip of their life, restrained because real authority never needs to shout.

- Specific beats superlative — name the lodge, the season, the sighting odds, not “unforgettable.”
- Declarative sentences. Confidence reads in short, certain statements.
- Earn exclamation points rarely, if ever. Calm confidence outperforms enthusiasm.
- Speak as “we”, not in the third person, in client-facing copy.
- Lead with what the guest will experience, then support it with our expertise.

Instead of...

“Experience the adventure of a lifetime on this dream safari!”

Write...

“Sabi Sand offers the highest leopard-sighting density in Africa. Three nights gives you the best odds.”

Bright. Airy.

Never a Stock Grid.

On a light ground, photography should feel like midday clarity rather than dusk drama — natural light, soft shadow, a single clear subject, generous negative space matching the page's own restraint.

SEEK

- + Soft natural daylight, gentle shadow
- + One clear subject — animal, lodge, or guest moment
- + Wide environmental shots with real negative space
- + Authentic guest moments, genuine emotion
- + Consistent warm, naturally-lit grade — not duotone

AVOID

- Harsh midday flare or blown highlights
- Crowded collage / grid layouts of many small images
- Visible stock-site watermarks or generic agency stock
- Heavy dark vignettes — that's the Ink Edition's role
- Text crammed on top of busy image detail
